

Fa So La!

Anthems, Hymns and Fuging Tunes from the American Shape Note Tradition

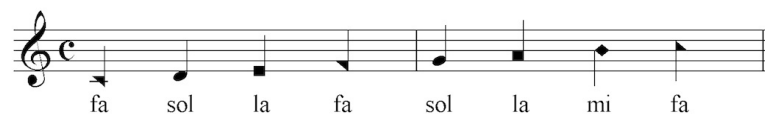

Soar Away - Sweet Prospect - Pacific & Daniels Idumea - Northfield

Arranged for Concert Band by Steven Light

Shape notes are a music notation designed to facilitate singing. The notation, introduced in 1801, was a popular teaching device in American singing schools. Shapes were added to the note heads in written music to help singers find pitches within major and minor scales without the use of more complex information found in key signatures on the staff.

Shape note singing originated in New England, was practiced primarily in the Southern region of the United States for many years, and for the last 50 years has been experiencing a renaissance in other locations as well.

The idea behind shape notes is that the parts of a vocal work can be learned more quickly and easily if the music is printed in shapes that match up with the solfège syllables. For instance, in the four-shape tradition used in the "Sacred Harp" and elsewhere, the notes of a C major scale are notated and sung as follows:

The first three notes of a major scale – fa, sol, la – are each a whole step apart. The fourth to sixth notes are also a whole step apart and are also fa, sol, la. The seventh and eighth notes, being separated by a half step, are indicated mi-fa. This means that just four shape notes can adequately reflect the "feel" and intervals of the whole scale.

This style of singing is often called "sacred harp" singing because the books that most singers use today are called "The Sacred Harp," with the most prominent of these being the 1991 Denson edition. The term "sacred harp" refers to the human voice — that is, the musical instrument you were born with.

Sacred harp, or "shape note" singing, is a uniquely American tradition that brings communities together to sing four-part hymns and anthems. It is a proudly inclusive and democratic part of our shared cultural heritage. Here is Page 455, Soar Away from the "Sacred Harp", 1991 edition:

1. I want a so-ber mind, An all-sus-tain-ing eye, To see my God a-bove, And to the heavens fly. I'd I'd soar a-way a-bove the sky....

2. I want a God-ly fear, A quick, dis-cern-ing eye That looks to Thee, my God, And sees the tempter fly. I'd I'd soar a-way a-bove the sky....

soar a-way a-bove the sky,..... I'd fly,..... And fly, To see my God a-bove, I'd fly, To see my God a-bove.

I'd fly,..... and fly, To see my God a-bove, I'd fly, and fly, To see my God a-bove.

bove the sky,..... I'd fly,..... and fly, To see my God a-bove, I'd fly, fly, fly, To see my God a-bove.

Program Notes

Soar Away

Soar Away is typically sung in a very strong and forceful, full voice style. The accents and dynamics in this instrumentation are meant to emulate that singing style. The piece is unusual in that it changes tempo and meter between the two sections. It is a favorite of "singing conventions" where many singers get together and sit in a big square - one voice part on a side - with the leader standing in the middle (which is the best place to experience the power of the group's singing).

Sweet Prospect

Sweet Prospect, in a lilting triple meter, homophonic (all parts with the same rhythms) style is one of the sweetest tunes in the Sacred Harp. This arrangement for woodwinds (flutes, oboe, clarinets, bass clarinet and bassoon) explores the composition's harmonies by first presenting the soprano and tenor lines (flutes), then the alto, tenor and bass lines (clarinets) and then the complete 4-part piece.

Pacific & Daniels

Pacific and Daniels are more contemporary compositions in the shape note style. Glen Wright (Pacific) is from the Boston area and is author of several shape note style songs. He sings in Norumbega Harmony, a group devoted to shape note music. Neely Bruce (Daniels) is a composer and professor of American Music at Wesleyan University and was chair of the first New England Sacred Harp Convention. Both pieces are "fuging" tunes - a compositional style where the second section of the piece is written in a contrapuntal, fugal style. These two pieces are arranged for Saxophone Quartet with no break in between.

Idumea

Idumea, pronounced Id-u-MAY-a in the north and sometimes I-DU-me-a in the south, is another hymn that is mostly homophonic and very powerful. This arrangement, for Brass, also explores the simple yet quite rich harmonies by adding one part at a time. First comes the melody alone which is set in the tenor line, then bass, alto, and soprano, respectively.

Northfield

Jermiah Ingalls was born in Massachusetts, but lived in Vermont his entire adult life. He was the first choir director of the Newbury, VT Congregational church. Northfield represents the Shape Note tradition before it left New England and traveled south. It is a quintessential shape note fuging tune; simple, exciting and joyful. In this arrangement we hear elements of the composition first as a fantasy, then in drum corp style moving on to a vocal rendition written using the original 4 "shapes" and sung with the syllables: fa, so, la and mi. It ends with a full band treatment emulating the power and joy inherent in the piece and at shape note sings.

The musical notation is written on a single staff in bass clef with a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The notation consists of four measures, each containing a single note. The notes are connected by a thick black line, indicating a continuous melodic line. The fingerings are indicated by the numbers 5, 8, 5, and 2 above the notes. A ritardando (rit.) marking is placed above the fourth measure. The measures are separated by double bar lines, and the first measure is preceded by a repeat sign. The measure numbers 392, 393, 394, and 395 are indicated by the letters I, J, K, and the number 2 respectively.
